Learning Objectives

This course is designed for surgical pathologists with interest in cytology and currently performing FNA, cytopathologists, cytopathology fellows and pathologists-in-training to improve their interpretation skills.

At the conclusion of this activity, they will be able to:

Learn about the common challenges and diagnostic discrepancies encountered in the field of Fine Needle Aspiration and Exfoliative Cytology.

Recognize the causes of pitfalls in Cytopathology practise, and how to best avoid them. Adopt a practical approach to manage with challenging cases.

Understand the cytological features seen in problematic Metastatic Malignancies of Unknown Primary and compare different entities which may pose relevant difficulties in differential diagnosis.
